4 14点	(解答例1) When my students do speaking activities, many of them are afraid of making mistakes. So first of all, I'd like to create an atmosphere where my students can enjoy speaking. I always say to students, "Enjoy making mistakes," and encourage them to speak a lot. Second, it's important to give students a clear goal. If students feel the goal is necessary, they'll try hard to accomplish it. Finally, to speak on the spot, students have to practice enough through the activities like small talk. (80 words) (解答例2) My students like talking in pairs, so it's effective for them to do small talk. I will give the students a clear goal when I do this activity. Through small talk, students can input enough expressions and will be able to speak on the spot by degrees. To make small talk more active, I'd like to make an atmosphere where students aren't worried about making mistakes and encourage them to speak a lot. (71 words)
